

Pre-U, Paper 1c: British History Outlines
Section 7: The Lloyd George Coalition

Quick Reading Guide: You should all have read and watched, as a minimum:

Flagship, pp 117-24

Lynch, Britain 1900-1951, pp 81-97

Pearce and Stewart, British Political History, 1867-2001, pp 219-23

Both are in the shared area

The DNB entry on Lloyd George (parts of which are available in the shared area; others are worth a look):

<http://www.oxforddnb.com/>

Margaret Macmillan, The Peacemakers (2001), pp 44-49

is in the shared area

There are blog articles on the coalition chancellors:

Bonar Law

<https://rgshistory.wordpress.com/2017/11/02/the-chancellors-4-andrew-bonar-law/>

Austen Chamberlain

<https://rgshistory.wordpress.com/2017/11/16/the-chancellors-5-austen-chamberlain/>

Sir Robert Horne

<https://rgshistory.wordpress.com/2017/11/29/the-chancellors-6-sir-robert-horne/>

On the coalition home secretaries:

Sir George Cave

<https://rgshistory.wordpress.com/2017/11/13/the-home-secretaries-5-sir-george-cave/>

Edward Shortt

<https://rgshistory.wordpress.com/2017/11/14/the-home-secretaries-6-edward-shortt/>

On the coalition foreign secretaries:

AJ Balfour

<https://rgshistory.wordpress.com/2017/10/13/the-foreign-secretaries-2-aj-balfour/>

Curzon

<https://rgshistory.wordpress.com/2017/11/17/the-foreign-secretaries3-lord-curzon/>

There is a programme by Dan Snow, Lloyd George's great grandson:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=0d8lQGquWfs>

Robert Pearce, The Fall of Lloyd George (2007)

History Today:

<http://www.historytoday.com/robert-pearce/fall-lloyd-george>

There is a blog article on Bonar Law:

<https://rgshistory.wordpress.com/2017/05/26/some-thoughts-on-tory-leaders-of-yore-andrew-bonar-law/>

And one on Austen Chamberlain:

<https://rgshistory.wordpress.com/2017/11/04/tory-leaders-we-have-known-austen-chamberlain/>

And one on Baldwin 1922-24:

<https://rgshistory.wordpress.com/2015/09/29/tiger-stanley-baldwin-the-gambler-1922-24/>